

Kennedy Given Noisy Welcome

By The Associated Press
SHRIEKING, howling crowds acclaimed Sen. John F. Kennedy the wildest demonstration of his presidential campaign in St. Louis Tuesday night.

The tumultuous reception trapped the Democratic presidential nominee in his campaign plane for almost 15 minutes before police managed to clear a small pathway at the airport.

The noisy welcome by unruly spectators screaming "we want Kennedy" came shortly after Kennedy concluded a whirlwind barnstorming of Texas with rousing receptions from massed thousands in Dallas and Texarkana.

In Dallas, where Kennedy's opponent, Vice President Richard Nixon, was greeted by 100,000 persons Monday, crowds estimated by police at 175,000 jammed downtown streets for Kennedy's arrival.

It was noted, however, that Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, arrived in Dallas after the lunch hour while the Kennedy motorcade hit downtown districts at noon when more people were on the streets.

Kennedy also drew almost a full house at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium which seats 11,000.

Nixon Promises Projects Nixon carried his campaign into the Pacific Northwest Tuesday with words that Westerners like to hear.

He promised greater emphasis on starting new multipurpose reclamation, power and flood control projects.

This was a rebuttal to Kennedy's charges that the Eisenhower administration has been standing still in the hydroelectric field. It also was something of a departure from the administration policy of a holddown on this type of federal activity.

Nixon, starting a long, full day in San Francisco, voiced the promises of more emphasis on water projects during talks in Portland, Oregon and in Boise, Idaho. Nixon's plane developed trouble in one of its four engines en route to Boise but landed without trouble.

Also campaigning in California,
New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the Republican platform charts "a new era of political creativity for American foreign policy."

Rocky Campaigns
Rockefeller, starting a four-day
California swing in behalf of Nixon, said in a talk at Fresno that the GOP platform "squarely faces the challenge of communism."

Kennedy, accompanied by his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, concentrated on attacking Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson during his Texas swing.

At Texarkana, a city of 50,327 which lies in both Texas and Arkansas, Kennedy drew a crowd variously estimated at 65,000 to 100,000.

U. S. Senator Hennings Dies At 57

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Thomas C. Hennings Jr., D-Mo., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, died Tuesday at his home here. He was 57.

Office aides of the Missouri senator said he never had completely recovered from an operation last May.

Hennings was unable to attend the postconvention session of Congress.

He was operated on at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., last spring for what aides said at the time was removal of an abdominal obstruction.

Hennings served in the House from 1933 to 1941 and was elected to the Senate in 1950. He was re-elected in 1956.

After returning to Washington from Rochester, he was asked by his doctors not to participate in the remainder of that session of Congress but to rest in his apartment.

On July 9, he was taken to a Washington hospital suffering from what an assistant said was a virus infection.

Hennings held several top positions in the Senate. In addition to being chairman of the important Senate Rules Committee he was secretary of the Democratic Conference, one of three elective posts in the Senate Democratic organization.

Two Youths Injured In Crash Here

ROBERT WERKHEISER, 16, of 201 Spring St., East Stroudsburg, and Stuart Van Horn, 18, of Cresco, now living at 60 Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, were taken to the Monroe County General Hospital late last night following a one-car accident on N. Fifth St., between Oak and Phillips Sts., Stroudsburg.

A late report from the hospital said that Werkheiser has a possible broken shoulder and nose and Van Horn's injuries include a laceration of the forehead and several broken teeth.

Officers Richard Wolbert and Russell Decker, investigating the accident said "Werkheiser told us that he was doing approximately 50 miles per hour when he entered the curve."

The car hit the tree with such force that it was almost turned completely around to head north on Route 90. It was demolished.
At the time of the accident Wer-kheiser was traveling south.

Marks on the road, caused by the vehicle sliding, could be seen for approximately 75 feet before the car hit the tree.

Police investigating the accident said a charge of reckless driving would be preferred against Wer-kheiser and that they would continue their investigation.

U.S. Rejects Khrush's Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Tuesday night speedily rejected a Soviet protest against the U. S. order confining Premier Nikita Khrushchev to Manhattan Island during his United Nations visit.

The State Department sent its firmly worded reply by messenger to the Soviet Embassy within hours after Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov had presented the Soviet complaint. Moscow had termed the U. S. move an unfriendly act designed to hinder the work of the Soviet delegation at the U. N. General Assembly session starting Sept. 20.

The U. S. note declared the restriction was "in strict fulfillment of the obligations" which the U. S. government has to insure the safety of U. N. delegates. It said its action will assure to Khrushchev "the unhindered fulfillment of his mission to the United Nations."

Khrushchev's presence in New York, the U. S. note added, "relates solely and directly to his mission to the U. N. General Assembly."

"And it said the necessary security measures 'include the requirement that Mr. Khrushchev reside in closest convenient quarters of the United Nations.'"

The U. S. security measures "can in no way be considered to interfere with what is called . . . the normal work of the Soviet delegation to the 15th session of the General Assembly," it said.

"Travel beyond the limits of Manhattan Island is clearly not essential to the normal function of a delegation to a session of the U. N. General Assembly."

The Soviet government, in its protest, had demanded that Khrushchev be allowed to move to and from Soviet diplomatic headquarters in a big mansion at Glen Cove, Long Island.

Khrushchev, due to arrive in New York Monday aboard a ship also bearing other European Communist bloc leaders, had wanted to be allowed to use the Glen Cove estate rather than take up quarters in the city. Khrushchev is coming to New York as head of the Soviet delegation.

Plans are being made for him to stay at the quarters of the Soviet mission to the United Nations, which are on Manhattan Island a few blocks away from U. N. headquarters.

The precautions, ordered Saturday, were described as vital to protect Khrushchev in the face of expected anti-Communist pickets and demonstrations when he arrives Monday as a self-invited guest.

These authorities dismissed Khrushchev's complaint, delivered by Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, as Kremlin propaganda aimed at heightening world interest in his visit.

Only two hours earlier, the State Department had toughened its attitude by announcing the Soviet leader would not be permitted to visit anywhere outside Manhattan to accept any invitation for public appearances.

The Soviet Embassy had claimed numerous such invitations had been sent to Khrushchev as he sailed toward New York aboard the liner Baltika.

In sharp contrast, the State Department ruled out—for the time being at least—any move to curtail travels by three other controversial leaders — Cuba's Fidel Castro, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Worker Perishes In Fire

ONE member of a four-man maintenance crew lost his life early yesterday as fire ripped through a children's camp building two miles north of Marshalls Creek. The other three men escaped with their lives as they leaped through a second-story window to safety.

The victim was identified as William Barrick, about 36 years of age, who held addresses in both Tamaqua and Carlisle.

The Marshalls Creek Volunteer Fire Co., which responded to the fire call, reported that the alarm was made at 3:10 a.m. and that the company was at the scene within six minutes. It is believed that the fire broke out about 2:50 a.m.

Damage to building was estimated at $75,000.

Making Repairs
Barrick and three other men were living in the administration building at Pocono Highland Camp and were hired to make general repairs of the camp after it had closed for the season on Aug. 27. Maurice and Earl Weinberg, of Philadelphia, are the owners.

Edward Kozuch, 41, of 339 E. Hazard St., Summit Hill, was listed in satisfactory condition at Monroe County General Hospital after suffering numerous cuts and burns as he jumped through a second floor window to escape the flames.

The other two men were also hurt, but not as seriously. They were identified as Alex Washeleski, 48, of 101 S. Pearl St., Shamokin and Roy Jacobs, 43, of 104 E. Main St., Girardsville.

Due To Asphyxiation
Monroe County coroner Daniel G. Warner listed the death as "asphyxiation due to smoke inhalation" after an autopsy was performed yesterday.

Barrick was taken from the burning building by members of the Marshalls Creek Volunteer Fire Co. After using an inhalator and resuscitator in an attempt to revive him, he was placed in an ambulance and taken to Monroe County General Hospital. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

Fire Chief Ralph Miller and Trooper Peter Walsh, who investigated for the Stroudsburg State Police Barracks, said the cause of the fire has not been determined. They plan to continue the investigation.

Kozuch and two other members of the maintenance crew, Washeleski, and Jacobs, leaped from a second floor window into shrubbery lining the bottom of the building.

They said they tried to arouse Barrick before leaping through the window but were unsuccessful. They also reported that they continued to try to awaken him from outside the building after they had left.

Bleeding From Wound
In the meantime, as the two sought to awaken the man in the burning building, Kozuch ran for help. Although bleeding heavily from the wounds incurred in crashing the window, he ran about a half mile to the home of Fred Batchler. The phone in the Batchler home was out of order, however, and the two men drove out to Marshalls Creek Firehouse and put in the alarm.

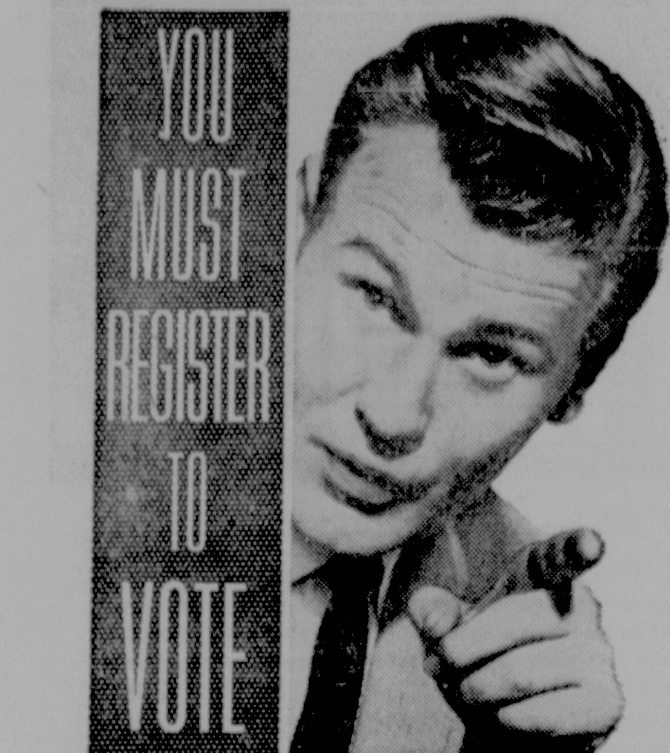

Fire Chief Miller reported that the two-story frame building measured about 60 by 75 feet and that porches ran around the sides and the front of it.

The fire completely gutted the building leveling the top floor. The other sections of the building remaining were waterlogged, according to Miller.

Forty-one members of the volunteer fire crew responded to the fire. The blaze was put under control about 3:45 a.m.

Parliament Gives Nod To Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congolese Parliament, with a majority of its members absent, voted Tuesday night that Patrice Lumumba should run the government with full powers. As with most recent Congo maneuverings, this apparently clarified nothing in the an-archic situation.

But the action was hailed by Lumumba as legal and as a mandate to "arrest any person causing trouble."

Such trouble-makers in Lumumba's view presumably include President Joseph Kasavubu and his supporters who have formed a new government to supplant the Lumumba regime.

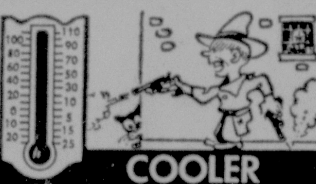

"I did not ask for full powers," Lumumba declared. "It is the Parliament which has offered it because of the gravity of the situation."

"Full powers do not mean that we will assassinate everybody to night," said Anicet Kashamura, Lumumba's minister of information.

Despite the fact the official vote count did not tally with the number of members present and newsmen's counts showed a quorum to be lacking, the vote represented victory for Lumumba and his leftward slide into the Soviet bloc.

Most opposition members refused to show up for the session.

Billion Dollar Hurricane

Donna Blows Herself Out After Taking 148 Lives

BOSTON (AP)—Hurricane Donna blew herself to extinction Tuesday in the Canadian provinces ending her destructive sweep up the Atlantic Coast.

She caused more than a billion dollars damage—mostly in Florida—and took 148 lives, 30 of them in the United States. Eight died in New England.

Donna vent her final blast on New England. Hundreds of communities were without electricity for as much as 24 hours. Thousands of homes were without light or telephone service.

The Atlantic Coast was strewn with the wreckage of countless pleasure craft.

Thousands of coastal dwellers evacuated from Long Island, N.Y., Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts returned to their homes Tuesday.

Although there was considerable flooding of beach homes it was nothing to compare with Hurricane Diane which swept up the coast five years ago last month. Her toll was 100 dead and $530-million damage in New England alone.

Donna was one of the most destructive storms to hit New York City, however. Weather Bureau chief Ernest J. Christie said it will go down in history as the biggest hurricane to hit Manhattan.

The 10-foot tides coupled with torrential rains disrupted the city's vast transportation system but things gradually returned to normal Tuesday.

In New England 100,000 telephones were out of commission after Donna's excursion Monday night.

Castro Coming To UN

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro decided Tuesday to attend the U.N. Assembly in New York and support policies of leftist, anti-American summiters led by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Cuba's aims were outlined as follows by Castro's Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who will be the chief of the Cuban delegation:

1. Seating of Red China in the U.N.
2. Recognition of Algerian independence.
3. Support for Patrice Lumumba as Congo premier.
4. Denunciation of U.S. "imperialistic policies."

Included in the 10-member delegation besides Castro and Roa will be agrarian reform chief Antonio Nunez Jimenez and Manuel Bisbe, Cuba's permanent U.N. delegate.

The government radio station Voz reported Castro and his party will fly to New York Sunday. The Assembly opens Tuesday.

In Washington, the State Department said no restrictions on movement such as those imposed on Khrushchev will be applied to Castro.

Although leaders of the Western Alliance including the United States, Britain and France have generally ignored Khrushchev's overtures, top officials from other countries are planning to attend.

They include the leaders of the Soviet Union's six European satellites—Poland, Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Two other chiefs of state who are not aligned with either the West or the East also are coming —President Tito of Yugoslavia and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

President Eisenhower at his news conference last week said there seemed to be "very definite reasons" for him to go to the U.N. session but he made it plain that he contemplated appearing at most, for a formal address to the full Assembly as he has twice in the past. The possibility he might meet Khrushchev, the President said, was "very, very, slim indeed."

Discoverer XV Orbits; Seek Capsule Recovery

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Discoverer XV roared into polar orbit Tuesday with a capsule the Air Force hopes to catch near Hawaii late Wednesday.

It is based solely on need.

Depending on what the states decide—and their individual plans are subject to federal approval—the benefits could cover hospital and nursing home care, doctors' services, dental work, eyeglasses, drugs and the like.

Eisenhower signed a bill permitting the new program to begin Oct. 1. But its actual operation hinges on when the individual states are ready to go.

In the first year, it will cost an estimated $262 million—$202 million in federal grants and $60 million in state money. Ultimately, some congressmen say, the federal cost may climb to $2 billion a year, depending on how liberal the states want to be. The states will set the size and extent of benefits.

It's open to anybody over 65 and its authors say that 12.4 million of the nation's 16 million older persons will be eligible. Any older person can take part whether or not he or she is a Social Security pensioner. The test is based solely on need. Beneficiaries fall into two groups:

1. About 2.4 million now on the old age assistance rolls. Officials estimate perhaps 360,000 of these might need medical help in any year. For them, the federal government will increase grants to the states under the already-operating old age program.
2. About 10 million others over 65 who are not on relief, but are without the money to handle all their health costs. Between 50,000 and one million in this category might need such aid in any year.

The federal government will chip in with the states in financing a new health program for them.

Efforts In Vain

Firemen Risk Lives To Reach Victim

HEROIC EFFORTS by two Marshalls Creek Volunteer Fire Co. members resulted in the rescuing of William Barrick, 36, from a burning building at Pocono Highland Camp early yesterday morning.

However, attempts to revive Barrick with inhalator and resuscitator were to no avail. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

The two firemen climbed a ladder to the second floor porch and crawled to the door of the room Barrick was in. They tried to push the door open but it went only half way.

MacDonough said at the time he thought a chair was holding the door half-way closed. He reported heavy concentration of smoke and searing flames inside the room and as a result was able to see but two to three feet inside.

MacDonough called for a gas mask as Huffman crawled on his hands and knees inside the room (minus any mask) but quickly came back out gasping for breath. However, he managed to notice that Barrick was wedged behind the door.

Then MacDonough crawled into the smoke-filled room (he had no mask, either) and threw Barrick's legs clear of the door and hastened out for some fresh air as the smoke and heat irritated his eyes and throat. He reported he couldn't stand the heavy pall of smoke.

A few seconds later, MacDonough pulled Barrick free of the doorway and both men dragged the victim by the arms onto the porch.

"All this happened within less than two minutes," MacDonough said. "We didn't have time to wait for anything."

This was one of the reasons they never waited for the gas masks or other equipment. A lantern the firemen had carried with them for the dark areas of the building, was left in the burning room and never retrieved.

They handed the limp victim to Bob Taylor who was at the top of the ladder, and Taylor carried him down.

Forty-one members of the fire company responded to the early morning fire. The company has a complement of 50 men.

Stroud House Open To Public

STROUD Community House, built in 1795 by Col. Jacob Stroud and therefore one of the oldest buildings in Monroe County, will be open for public inspection Sunday from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The open house celebration is being held in connection with the restoration and renovation of the property at Main and Ninth Sts., Stroudsburg. The affair is being sponsored by the Stroud Community House Board in cooperation with the Stroudsburg Junior Woman's Club.

Mansion House

Jacob Stroud built the large stone building, also known as Mansion House, as a home for his son, John, but it later became the home of Daniel Stroud. The Monroe County Historical Society occupies the entire first floor and a large room in the basement. On the first floor are displayed the noted Indian collection of Luke Broadhead, oil paintings of Stroud descendants, maps, Pennsylvania German birth certificates and furniture and relics of old families.

There are also exhibits of green, tile and slip ware, antiques and needle work. In the basement room are found the Gould and Dr. Charles S. Flagler Indian collections, antique surgical instruments, hand-made historical dolls and the Burlingame World War One exhibits.

Purchased In 1919

The Senior Woman's Club purchased the home in 1919 to preserve it for the county.

In conjunction with the restoration program The Daily Record reprints the following excerpts from Robert Brown Keller's "History of Monroe County, Pa."

"Of all the homes which Col. Jacob Stroud built for his children, several of which are still standing, the Mansion House is a precious heritage for it retains to a great extent the characteristics of Colonial days.

"The Mansion House truly deserves the name of mansion, for the dignity of its architecture and the spaciousness of its dimensions. Its beautiful doorway, wide hall and stately stairway, show that this building was carefully planned to embody the best ideals of Colonial Architecture.

3 Stories High

Three stories high, its 12 principal rooms have such a spacious fireplace with beautiful mantels, varying in style in each room. Fine hand wrought moldings and panelings and great strap hinges are found in many of the rooms.

"The massive stone chimney on the west side of the house is 15 feet wide in the attic. The great beams are held together with wooden pegs. In every way, the house shows the most careful planning and thought and was truly a labor of love.

"It was built in 1795 for the oldest son of Col. Stroud, John, but as the business cares of Jacob Stroud increased and he grew older, he found it necessary to have his son Daniel, who was then practicing law in Easton, nearer at hand.

"So John who had no taste for business, removed to a farm which is now included in the Mackintosh and Gilbert properties west of the town, and Daniel came into possession of the Mansion House.

Free Hearted Hospitality

"With his large and growing family and his friends and guests from Philadelphia and other places, and with his generous entertainment of weary travellers passing through the village we can well imagine the old house teeming with activity and happiness. It can truly be said in the time of Daniel Stroud.

"In that mansion used to be, Free hearted hospitality."

The rally was arranged by Carl Meissner, vice chairman of the Monroe County republican committee.

Speakers included County Chairman Parke W. Unangst, who announced a pre-election rally at the CLU Club in East Stroudsburg on Oct. 21.

The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Gussett, a second floor neighbor.

THE General State Authority authorized yesterday the start of a $910,000 dormitory for East Stroudsburg State College.

House-To-House Canvass For Palsy Funds Today

ONE OF THE largest house-to-house canvasses ever to be held in Monroe County, will be conducted tonight, when 1960 "33 Minute March on Cerebral Palsy" swings into action. Today the "Project Doorbell" will get under way, with volunteers participating in a door-to-door march in every part of the county, soliciting funds for United Cerebral Palsy.

"It is equally important," Mrs. Vincent Marek, director and general campaign chairman stated, "that the citizens of our communities be informed not only of the fact that cerebral palsy is the cruellest multi-crippled known, but also that they know what can, what must be done to help those afflicted."

$1200 goal

Monroe County has a goal of ($1200.00). Of all funds raised locally, 75 percent supports local clinics and rehabilitation centers. The remaining 25 percent is directed to the national research and education program. "We are confident," the chairman added, "that the people of Monroe County will again go all out not only in meeting our increased goal, but in topping it."

WILLIAM J. Altier, was re-elected for his third term as president of Pocono Mt. Vacation Bureau during a meeting at Pocono Manor on Tuesday night.

The following other officers were elected by the board of governors prior to the membership meeting. They were: Edward C. Jenkins, first vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Ziegler, second vice president; and Eric Schuchard, treasurer.

Budget Surpassed

The budget of $600,000 was surpassed by almost $5,000. It was reported. The aim of a $100,000 budget is expected for the very near future. The monies are used mainly for advertising and for other literature dealing with the industry.

The group proposed an enlarged advertising program for the next year and pointed out that it was very satisfied with the year-round advertising system it had used for the first time this season.

Along the same program, the association proposed the hiring of a promotional sales representative. The suggestion was agreed upon but action on the move will be taken later.

The Laurel Blossom Festival, one of the highlighting events sponsored by the bureau, was given approval for next season. In the same category, the group proposed a newer, bigger and better hotel and restaurant show for the 1961 season.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 20 at a place to be named.

One no true bill was given to Samuel J. French. French was the driver of the vehicle that hit the truck driven by Archie Rundle, killing Rundle.

Horn plans to visit other industries and businesses later in the campaign. His schedule calls for him to be in Paradise and Pocono Townships and Mount Pocono next Tuesday, and in Chestnut Hill, Polk, Jackson and Eldred Townships on Sept. 27.

The candidate will visit East Stroudsburg on Oct. 4. Hamilton and Ross Townships on Oct. 11, Middle Smithfield, Smithfield and Barrett Townships on Oct. 18, Stroud Township on Oct. 25 and Coolbaugh, Tunkhannock and Tobyhanna Townships on Nov. 1. The election is Nov. 8.

Balanced Program For All Aim Of Monroe's YMCA

A BALANCED program, with activities for every member of the family, is the aim of the activities committee of the Monroe County YMCA board of directors.

In a report submitted at last night's board meeting, Chairman Edward Telling said the YMCA program is being reviewed by his committee with a view of bolstering weak points and lending new emphasis to strong points.

For one thing, he said, it is planned to continue the family night activity program, but to restrict participation to families. In other words, he said, children will not be allowed to take part in the family night events unless their parents are with them.

Home Show Planned

Arthur Troegner reported that a home show is being planned this Fall and a sportsmen's show next Spring. The home fair will be sponsored by the Exchange Club. Members of Troegner's committee are R. M. Frantz, Alfred J. Scheffer, Alex Bensinger, Joseph Small and W. C. G. Peterson.

A successful Summer camp season was reported by John R. Wilson, general secretary. All three camps experienced a gain over the previous season and each operated in the black, netting a small return to the association.

Richard Lee, new president of the Mount Pocono YMCA Branch, reported on plans to revitalize branch activities chiefly with young married couples as supervisors. A membership campaign is also planned, he said.

An activity report prepared by Karl E. Weiler, president of the Barrett Branch, reviewed events of the Summer months and outlined plans for the coming year.

Urged To Seek Site

Jack Chapman, physical director, recommended that the YMCA try to locate a camp site of its own for the boys' day camp and the girls' fun camp, two phases of the Summer program. For a number of years, the camps have been held at Saylor's Lake but have grown to a point where separate sites are needed for each camp, Chapman said.

Wilson said the classes in practical politics planned by the YMCA and the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce have been merged and will be given as one course.

Thomas Kistler presided at the meeting.

Judge Ughetta was nominated at a meeting of the Democratic State Committee of New York State.

South Wayne Principal Lists Methods

NEWFOUNDLAND — Supervising Principal Leland Cramer, speaking to Southern Wayne Joint School students as school opened for the 1960-61 term, noted that "success in school is the result of good planning, careful budgeting of time, knowing how to listen, and other tricks of the learning trade."

In response to questions from students on how to improve their learning ability, Mr. Cramer has listed the following suggestions:

(1) Budget your after-school hours. Make a chart, leaving a space for each free hour. Then schedule your time between study, sports, hobbies, outside reading, social activities. Don't allow interruptions during study periods.

(2) Make use of "odds and ends" of time. Study on the bus.
Keep flash cards in your pocket for studying French verbs, chemical formulas or history dates while you wait in line or eat lunch.

Be Good Listener

(3) Train yourself to be a good listener. When your mind starts to wander in class, try listening "for use." This means looking for information you can pluck out and use from what is being said... facts that will help you understand a difficult part of the subject... information that is not in your textbooks.

(4) Try the trick of "over-learning." After you have committed to memory a series of dates, a list of foreign words and their English meanings, or a poem that you have been told to memorize, study them some more. Tests have proved that students who study material a while longer, after having learned it, will remember it longer than students who learn it and then stop studying.

(5) Ask yourself questions about what you are studying.
To impress information forcibly on your mind, close your book from time to time and ask yourself questions about the page you have been reading. Write down the answers, and check them against the text.

Organized Way
(6) Study in an organized way. Don't just plunge in and wade through the heavy matterial in your textbook. First read the summary of the chapter's contents. Then read headings and subheadings throughout the chapter. If you know "where the chapter is going" your concentrated study will roll along more smoothly.

(7) Do something extra "above and beyond the call of duty."
Read a short story in the foreign language you're learning.
Like math? Try a paperback book of mathematics puzzles and problems. Read magazines and books about your favorite subject, whether it's biology or history.

(8) Tough assignments? Give yourself a "reward" for doing them. When you have a series of complicated math problems to tackle, promise yourself a trip to the drug store or let yourself watch a good television program, after the problems are done.

(9) Take an active part in classroom discussion. If you're not particularly interested in a certain subject, but know that you must get passing marks in it, make yourself interested by chiming in on classroom discussions. The result may surprise even you!

"Better buy it at the DRUG Store!"

Here's a good rule to remember: If it belongs in your medicine cabinet, buy it at the DRUG Store! Only a Pharmacist is fully qualified to dispense items affecting your Health and Welfare.

And remember to bring Doctor's prescriptions to this Reliable Pharmacy.

Old Garage Converted Into Carport Or Porch

THE OBJECTIVE of the designer here was to develop a design which did not depend on mass production for its economy. In this design the old garage idea is modernized and carport is made into a possible summer porch with an interesting planting box on side wall. The carport may also be used as a protected playground for the children during daytime.

Combined living-dining area is very spacious with almost an entire wall of glass overlooking the yard. Fireplace and built-in china closet are shown here.

Features include a flexible study, which is convertible into a third bedroom and can be closed off from living area by means of a folding door, or if you wish, by pulling down draw-drapes. The three rooms, study, living and dining, could serve as one main area if you do much entertaining.

The house is planned for construction without a basement. The heater is behind the living room fireplace and chimney.

Room arrangement insures against cross traffic, with all parts of the house within easy access from front door.

The two bedrooms face the front of the home and boast attractive corner windows. Master bedroom features a built-in chest.

The bath is well located near sleeping areas and is also convenient as a powder room for those entering the home.

Kitchen and laundry are situated near carport side. Kitchen is square-shaped, making it possible to provide good counter and cabinet space. There is room for a breakfast table here.

Since there is no basement, extra storage space has been supplied in the carport at either side of the planting box. The house covers 1,488 square feet without carport. Suggested construction material is of brick veneer and wood siding.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. Included with the plan you receive are Specifications, Material List, and Conversion Detail Sheet, which shows you how to build this home in brick, block or frame. This plan contains 1,488 sq. ft. and 16,249 cu. ft. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List, and Specification Guide for Des. No. H-333 may be purchased for $9.75 for 1st set; 2 for $18.25; 3 for $26.25; or 4 for $33.75. It May Take A Lot To Fix A Little

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

THE drip, drip, drip of a leaking roof can turn a happy household into one that resembles a medieval torture chamber. Small annoyances such as these can threaten the peacefulness of a monastery. Little irritations—a squeaking gate, a window that slams shut unexpectedly, a loose stone step, rickety bannister may be nerve-racking and even eerie to the inhabitants.

You may be surprised to find that the one person who can tolerate these unpleasanties is the home handyman. He's learned to cushion his eardrums against little nuisances.

Most handymen love to do big jobs, the kind they can put on view to neighborhood guided tours. But little jobs leave them cold.

The man who is a whiz at building a screened-in porch, for instance, must be heckled into putting up an extra shelf in the cupboard. A doting father who would build a playhouse for a child with professional skill cannot somehow bring himself to do a small nursery paint job. He may build a beautiful patio, painstakingly matching brick patterns, but try to get him to nail the outdoor chair slats together so you can sit down on the new terrace. Ah, there is the chore.

Many a housewife asks how her husband may be prodded into doing small chores before she loses her mind. Those who have been successful at this say tact and ingenuity are required if you'd get a man in the mood. Here is some strategy that may be used in that instance:

1. If a paint job is necessary, go about it in sensible fashion. Prepare the room for painting, washing down walls, etc. Ask the man of the house to help you move the furniture. Buy the paint, and the roller if you want to use one (and it does make the paint job a breeze). Then, fire questions at him. The siller, the better. If he doesn't respond by picking up the roller and saying something like this: "It will be easier to do the job myself than answer those dumb questions," he's not the male animal we have in mind. In that event, you may as well do the job now as any other time, or hire someone to do it.

2. If a small plumbing problem like a dripping faucet is eroding your disposition, startle your husband by suggesting you call the plumber. Tell him that while you are about it, the plumber may as well check a few other items. Tick off frightening items like new copper pipe to get more water pressure or a new hot water heater. That should get your man started pronto fixing that silly old leak, our informant tells us.

3. You may solve the problem of a needed extra closet shelf by saying, perhaps, "It would make more sense, probably, to call a carpenter to rip out all the old shelves, and put in some new ones, cut to the size I need." He'll recover quickly—with saw and hammer, no doubt.

4. Few men give in to nagging, one woman reminds us. He just shuts the idea from his mind or removes himself from the scene of battle. It's better to wheedle than to heckle, all informants agree.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I understand that linoleum is made in three different thicknesses. Can you tell me what they are—and which is best for putting down in a kitchen?

ANSWER: What is called Standard gauge linoleum, 3/32nds of an inch, is generally used in homes. The two other gauges are Heavy, 1/8th of an inch, and Light, 5/64th of an inch. While sheet linoleum comes in a 6-foot width, linoleum now can be bought in tile form, which makes it somewhat easier to install for the home handyman.

QUESTION: I am considering using a particular kind of fiberboard panel for the walls of an extra room. The dealer tells me the boards are made of sugar-cane fibers. Can you tell me something about this and whether it is practical?

ANSWER: In the manufacture of this type of fiberboard, the sugar cane is separated into individual fibers and then re-formed under pressure, after which it is cut into panels, planks and other shapes and sizes. It is a relatively inexpensive material, has a definite insulation value, is easy to put up and looks very attractive. The only possible drawback to be considered is that it absorbs moisture and warps under very humid conditions.

Home Building Components

ONE of the most versatile home building components available today is the awning-hopper-casement window. This stock window of ponderosa pine operates according to the way it is installed.

Placed as an awning window, it opens upward and out, providing full ventilation with a tiny "roof" that keeps rain out. Inverted, it becomes a hopper window, opening down and out, ideal for windows near the floor since it allows ventilation but blocks drafts. Placed on its side, the window becomes a casement, opening to one side.

Save The Floor In Your House

IF YOU keep the surfaces of rubber and vinyl flooring free of permanent indentations, employ a few easy-do protective techniques.

If furniture is moved frequently, such as desk chairs, it should have casters two inches in diameter with soft rubber treads at least three quarters of an inch wide and easy swivel ball bearing action.

For heavy furniture which is seldom moved use plastic cups. It is easy to remove metal cups from chair legs.

FREEZE ice in heart shaped pans to be used in the punch bowl at a bridal shower. A few drops of food coloring added to the water before freezing will carry out your color scheme.

MARYVILLE, Pa. — Red reflectors are placed at the front of all Maryville houses occupied by blind or invalid persons, in case of fire. Firemen can tell at a glance if someone who may be helpless is likely to be trapped inside.

It is suggested that when putting screws in wood if they are waxed or greased they will enter the wood much easier.

Build Your Own Trellis Planter

IF YOU like plants but can't quite keep them under control, consider making a trellis planter. There are several advantages to the planter: (1) It will offer your plants a leaning post to encourage growth and (2) keep them in a neat arrangement. It may be an ideal screen for the summer fireplace, or an addition to a window sill, picture window or porch.

Start with a wooden flower box, the required length for the area you wish to decorate, making frame and planter of redwood, fir, pine or what have you. If it is to be used indoors, give the box several coats of thinned shellac or paint it.

After the box area is set, make uprights for the side of the box, depending on the height you want, using a frame of 1 by 3 inch wood, and joining it by a bar across the top, placing eyelets about 6 inches apart across the bar.

Place the eyelets the same distance apart on the length of one side of the box. Rope or nylon clothesline may be laced in an X design along the flower box from the top row of eyelets to the row along the rim of the box. You may open the eyelets with pliers for easier lacing.

Line the box with tinfoil and set the plants in it right in their own clay pots, adding more soil to bring the planter to a level to conceal the pots.

A pretty arrangement may combine variegated ivy that climbs up the trellis with geraniums, Begonias and philodendrons make another attractive combination. A background of ivy may be cultivated to a massive display with plants in the foreground changed to suit seasonal moods. African violets, dwarf marigold, dwarf zinnias, ageratum, petunias and bleeding hearts may offer variety with climbing plants for handsome displays.

Anyone who knows the difference between a hammer and a saw should have no difficulty building this carport. The pattern offered below contains step-by-step directions that take all the mystery out of building. It not only tells how to build carport to size required, but also how to build it to height that complements its location.

Full-size outlines for making angle cuts on rafters, step-by-step directions and assembly illustrations are provided in the pattern offered below.

Donna Strikes Relative Of Area People

A TELEPHONE report from Florida from a former Scranton resident and who was well-known in the Stroudsburg area, said that the family had suffered "severe damage" as a result of Hurricane Donna which had struck the state on Sunday. Contact was finally made via telephone after several days effort.

The former residents are Mr. and Mrs. Marion G. Denton, of Auburndale, near Lakeland, Fla. Mrs. Denton is the former Miss Valeda Webber. The Dentons have many friends in the Pocono area and Mrs. Denton is a cousin of Sherman Teeter, of Collins St., Stroudsburg and a niece of Mrs. John Teeter, of Millford Road.

Completely Demolished
A manufacturing factory of the Dentons was completely demolished, the report stated. In addition to this, their 30-acre grove of citrus plants was a total loss and extensive damage was caused to their home.

"Words just couldn't describe the terrible destruction" the hurricane had caused," Mrs. Denton reported.

The factory employed about 50 employees and manufactures the Marden Brush cutters which are used to cut various plants. The cutters are attached to tractors but of late the company has been experimenting with a self-driven cutter.

Mrs. Denton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Webber, lived in the Green Ridge section of Scranton.

Owners were Loyal To Pets

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dog may be man's best friend but the feeling was mutual among many dog owners during the onslaught of Hurricane Donna's south Florida over the weekend.

Law enforcement officers and evacuation squads reported numerous instances of residents of low-lying areas deciding to weather the big blow in their homes rather than seek shelter elsewhere mainly because pets weren't welcome.

No Politics For CS Workers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern Tuesday ruled that state civil service employees who engage in political activity must be dismissed from their jobs.

Miss Alpern's formal opinion was directed to Francis R. Smith, state insurance commissioner.

The attorney general said she was "unable to find any legal basis" for the policy adopted by the Civil Service Commission giving state workers the option of quitting political activity or giving up their state job.

There are 25,000 state workers covered by state or federal civil service.

Miss Alpern's ruling applies specifically to state workers who were covered by civil service by executive action rather than by law.

Miss Alpern interpreted the State Civil Act of 1941 as stating explicitly that any employee covered by its provisions is prohibited from political activity.

E-Burg Police Have 'New' Query-- Who Owns The '60?

EAST Stroudsburg police had a brand new query on their hands today in the property of a 1960 Pontiac four-door sedan automobile.

The police located it early Tuesday morning while on their routine cruising duties behind the Lehigh Valley Supply Co., off Brown St., East Stroudsburg.

What puzzled the investigating officers were these questions: Whose automobile is it? Where did it come from? How did it get here in the Poconos? The auto was locked and the keys were gone.

There were no inspection sticker, no registration tags, nor any identifying marks on the car. The late model vehicle appeared to be one directly from an auto dealer's showroom.

Send Out Notices

Donald Quick, assistant chief of police in the borough, said he viewed the automobile around 8:10 a.m. yesterday morning after the night police officers had become curious about it. He reported that all the doors were locked and that it was tan in color. The officers pointed out that telegraph messages were dispatched from the headquarters and would probably be a couple of days before any definite information is gathered.

The car was ordered to be towed away by East Stroudsburg police. B. E. Weber, owner of an automotive garage in East Stroudsburg hauled the vehicle to his garage for safe keeping while police continued to investigate the matter.

Only 204 Miles

Weber said that the car had an original mileage of 204 miles. No mark was found on the new model but it did appear that a dealer destination marker on the rear of the model had been tampered with and removed.

Only Cubs Had Opposition

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Only Cuba stood opposed Sunday to a U.S.-sponsored plan aimed at countering Communist penetration in Latin America through broad economic and social development assistance.

Delegates of 19 nations at the Inter-American economic conference were ready to give formal approval to the multimillion-dollar Act of Bogota.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime, represented by Economic Minister Regino Boti, has called the plan "another maneuver of North American imperialism."

... THAT'S WHAT EARL STORM of Delaware Water Gap did when he joined the group at the Sommers Ribbon Company, East Stroudsburg. "I was one of the lucky ones who didn't need my Blue Cross and Blue Shield benefits for some years after I had joined — remember?" he asked mill owner Louis Sommers (left). "But when I did — what a difference to my pocketbook!"

COMPARE NONPROFIT BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD with any kind of hospital-medical care you've ever heard of!

A COMPARISON of nonprofit Blue Cross and Blue Shield with other forms of hospital and doctor bill coverage brings to light many facts that further show why Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection is so highly desirable — so eagerly sought.

COMPARE flexible room allowance, for one thing: note Mr. Storm's Semi-Private room rate of $13.00 per day provided as a "paid-in-full" Blue Cross benefit, as it would have been even if the room had cost more ... COMPARE with set cash allowances to help toward cost of room. Note, too, that subscriber's "Co-Op" payment of $5 a day for just 15 of the 46 days he was hospitalized is the ONLY "Co-Op" payment to be made in any 12-month period, no matter how many more times hospitalization might have been required. COMPARE the point that — although Mr. Storm is many years away from retirement — both he and Mr. Sommers have the satisfaction of knowing that their selection of Blue Cross and Blue Shield means he can carry protection with him when the day comes — and can keep it to any age.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The American flag, flying high, above the LeBar home on Chipperfield Drive looked mighty handsome as I drove up to the silver tea yesterday afternoon and set me to wondering why flag-flying should be limited to post offices and a few business firms. It's a beautiful flag.

If I sound like a flag salesman, it's because, after wishing my heart out at every Olympic contest in Rome that our flag would go up, I'm very flag conscious. As a matter of fact, I'm very conscious of a lot of things around home that I never thought much about before.

Reminds me of years ago, coming home from college and immediately setting about trying to change my mother's hair-do, my little sister's manners and the decorating scheme of the whole house. It was not that I loved them less, but that I couldn't bear to have them less than perfect.

But criticism, however well-meant, can be very irritating. Which is why I'm so happy to see somebody else — notably the Junior Women — taking the lead in another pet enthusiasm of nine our national heritage through the preservation and expanded use of the Stroud Community House.

The date it was built — 1795 — sounds very recent compared to Pompeii's 2,000 years, but there have been more changes in the last 165 years than in the millenium which preceded them. Many of those changes are reflected in the items in the Historical Museum.

If you're not already familiar with them, you'll get a chance to see them at the open house this Sunday between 1:30 and 5:30. I'm anxious to see, too, what the Juniors have done to the dining room this summer, and to hear more about their plans for the future. In the rumors which have reached me they seem to have bitten off a right big chunk—but they are the girls who can chew it, if anybody can.

It was fashioned with a portrait neckline, long pointed sleeves, with the skirt ending in a chapel train. Business Women To Honor Club's Own Pioneers This Year

Mrs. Morris Evans, a charter member of the Stroudsburg Business and Professional Woman's Club, will be guest of honor at the first regular Fall meeting Thursday, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Dinner will be served at 6:15.

Announcing the honoring of Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Earland Clark, president, said that it institutes a new feature of the BPW year, in which tribute will be paid "long term" members who, through their interest and continued activity, have helped advance the cause of women in the business world.

By telephone from her summer residence at White Heron Lake, Roberta Gearhart Evans yesterday reflected upon her own business career and the organizing of the local branch of BPW in March 1924. The club at the time of its chartering had approximately 20 members, she recalls, with Carrie Ethel Baker, then dean of women at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, as president. Miss Baker, together with Miss Dorothy Keller and the late Olive Posten, had been instrumental in forming the group which now has a membership in the hundreds and can boast of numerous members who have served in both district and state offices.

At the time BPW came into being here, Mrs. Evans was Roberta Gearhart, manager of a florist shop owned by Alonzo Herrick of Hackettstown, and located in the Bensinger building on Main street, now the home of Singer Sewing Machines. Roberta had become an apprentice florist several years before, assisting her aunt,

Temple Israel Sisterhood Launches Year

Fall activities at the Temple Israel are getting under way. It was announced at the opening meeting of the Sisterhood last week with Mrs. Maxwell Cohen presiding and welcoming the large number of members to the new year.

Sunday School and Hebrew School will begin September 18, it was announced by Mrs. Maurice Fleisher, chairman, who gave a complete report of coming plans and activities for the school.

The major fund-raising project of the Sisterhood will be the gift shop which Mrs. Seymour Katz explained in detail. She also displayed crystal, sterling and Israel gift items as well as personalized and other cards for the New Year's holidays. Mrs. Katz is also arranging special gifts and articles for the Passover Season.

Past National President Here For BPW Dinner

Honored guests at the BPWC meeting Thursday night will include Miss Grace Daniels, immediate past president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Mrs. Louise Kupperman, director of District Eight; and Mrs. Lenora Mock, editor of The Key, magazine of the state federation. Mrs. Kupperman will be the guest speaker on the subject of membership.

Miss Daniels, who is a resident of District 8 and has worked closely with the local club, received as a birthday gift during her term as national president, 83 new clubs from 36 states.

Also featured in the program will be the chancel choir of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, under the direction of Richard Lindroth.

Initiation of new members will be conducted by the membership chairman, Gladys Decker.

Mrs. Martha Carrick, whom she succeeded as manager in 1920.

"When I began, my duties included those of delivery boy," she recalls. "In those days, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg had a trolley, and every day I'd gather together all the bouquets for the hospital, get aboard the trolley, ride over the bridge on the trolley, and walk the rest of the way."

Delivery methods are not the only changes she saw prior to her retirement from business 37 years later. "Back in 1920," she remembers, "Arrangements were a lot different than those of today. They were more hit and miss, if you know what I mean. The florist arranged the flowers in a way pleasing to him or her—and that was fine. Today there is "line arrangement" and this requires special training and skill.

Also, flowers are much more frequently used today — both in one's own home and as gifts. At one time, flowers were sent to funerals, and were used for decoration at weddings, or were sent on an anniversary or at the birth of a baby. Today everyone is more flower conscious, and a woman will purchase flowers anytime, simply to brighten and freshen her home."

Modern methods of cultivation have changed the florist business too, Mrs. Evans points out. "Years ago, carnations were a winter flower, and you did not see them in the summer. Chrysanthemums bloomed for only a short period in the fall. Now, of course, we have these and almost all other flowers the year round."

Working with flowers, Roberta developed a fondness for them and discovered a real flair for floral arrangement. When in 1924 she married Morris Evans, and Mr. Herrick passed away, the couple purchased Herricks, which continued in the same location as Evans the Florist. A number of years later, they purchased the Hood building, several doors down the street, remodeled the showroom, adding lines of glassware, statuary, and novelties, and continued in business until the late 1950's when they retired, selling their business to a nephew, Harrison Taylor.

"When I became a member of BPW," Roberta Evans says, "there were very few women in this area who owned and operated their own business — off-hand I think of none. I can't even recall many professional women in 1924. Teachers, of course — but not doctors or lawyers."

Pausing a while to ponder, she chuckles. "No — I really can't think of any. It's certainly different today, isn't it?"

Mrs. Horace Butler will serve as chairman of birthdays; Mrs. Charles Swisher of organization meeting dates; and Mrs. John Stanford of advertisements. Individuals, organizations or firms wishing to be listed in the calendar may call the chairman or any member of the auxiliary.

In reviewing the activities of the summer, chairman reported successful card parties in June and August. Letters of thanks were sent to Ben Josephson of Tanniment and Edward C. Jenkins of Skyline Inn for the hospitality of the resorts for the parties.

Material will be purchased for hospital gowns for the children's ward which will be the sewing project for the October meeting.

Mrs. Hubert Tebbis was chairman of the hostess committee which included Mrs. Howard Keiper, Mrs. H. G. Sanborn Jr. and Mrs. Dorothy Staples.

Mrs. Marvin Ehrlich, Mrs. Herman Lax, Mrs. Jules Steinberg and Mrs. Benton Silver.

Dr. Robert Brown Speaker At Aux. Silver Tea

Calvin's sense of the imminence of God "in us and with us" has been a dominating factor in the Presbyterian Church for the past 400 years, Dr. Robert Brown, former superintendent of schools in Stroudsburg, yesterday told members of the Women's Assn. of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

He was the guest speaker at the opening Silver Tea, held at the home of Mrs. J. A. LeBar, Chipperfield Drive.

To this sense of the personal presence of God, he attributed the lack of ritual within the church.

The Presbyterian form of government through elders provided the basis for the Democratic form of elections and government, he said, and lightened his talk with the role of the elder in material as well as spiritual matters as set forth in early minutes of the local church.

One out of three persons in the world is a nominal Christian, he said, but their conviction, devotion, and efforts must be intensified if, through Christ, they meet the challenge of the times.

Dr. Brown was the guest speaker at the well-attended Silver Tea held at the home of Mrs. J. A. LeBar, Chipperfield Drive. Mrs. Elton Denning presided at the meeting and Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff led the devotions.

Announcement was made of the Presbyterian meeting to be held October 7 at the Middle Smithfield Church with luncheon at Vacation Valley; of a retreat and Quiet Day for Auxiliary members on September 27 at Brainerd Center; and of World Community Day on November 4.

Goals of 25 per cent more than last year were set for the national quota.

The Irene Reiser Circle were hostesses and Miss Elizabeth Korosora, of Ethiopia, a student at East Stroudsburg State College, was a guest at the tea.

STROUDSBURG, PA.

WIRE—DIRECT FROM FRANCE

A tisket, a tasket
A shiny golden basket
That boasts a dozen shapes and sizes,
(There's just no end to its surprises!)
What CAN'T it do? Come in and ask it.

Were I to claim that this or that piece of merchandise is the most beautiful in our store, there might be room for controversy. But no one will dispute me, I'm sure, when I acclaim the new "French basket for gracious living" to be far and away the most versatile piece of merchandise we're showing during our Import Fair.

I have one of these baskets on my desk at the moment and have been toying with it for the past half hour. (I get paid for the darndest things!) So entertaining has it been, I have come to the conclusion that even if it had no other use in this world, it would be a most intriguing parlor game . . . a perfect companion if one were stranded several months on a desert island or several weeks in a fallout shelter.

I am positive I have not yet discovered half of the things this crazy basket of wire, plated with brass, will do. At the moment, it stands before me with handles upright, and a base, well away from the desk, ready to hold a hot casserole. Simply by pushing it down in the center, I can make it the proper size to hold a pie plate. Turning it upright and squeezing it so that the handles become a stand, I have a deep, round bowl, fine for fruit, potato chips, pretzels, or hot buns. Flattening it out at the top, and still using the handles as a standard, I have a cake plate. Turning it completely inside out and poking it a bit here and there, I find it takes the shape of a flower pot. Bringing the handles together, I discover a bird cage pocketbook that needs only a pretty hanky and a change purse to go places as a very practical summer accessory. By tugging at what is now the center, I can round it out to form a basket ideal for holding leafy vegetables under the faucet while I wash them . . . and, because the finish is permanent, I can load the entire basket with eggs, submerge them in water, and boil them.

I am told there are 101 uses for this French basket . . . and that it will take on at least twelve different appearances. Certainly it seems to be a most practical household gadget for only 2.95.

Until now I had always thought the thrifty French would never carry all their eggs in one basket. Now I'm not so sure. Maybe they'd be cautious with eggs, but they certainly believe in carrying their entire kitchen, plus their purse, in one basket, and the idea seems perfectly sound at that! See these in our gift department—brides would welcome one as a shower gift.

Speaking of France, brings to mind a charming and vivacious woman who called at my office the other afternoon. Mrs. Joseph McCann has just become affiliated with the Stroud Union School system in a supervisory capacity, and, as the wife of an engineer associated with the Tobyhanna Signal Corps depot, recently returned to this country after four years in France. Having become acquainted with the educational system of that country, both as an educator and as the mother of a teen age student, her views are most interesting. I'll say this too—she knows more about Monroe County and Pennsylvania than do most of us who have been born and reared here. "I made it a point to read all I could about this area before we came," she says. It was a pleasure to meet her, and we welcome the McCanns with every sincere hope for their happiness here.

Brilliantly Deficient

Dear Abby: My brother is married to a woman who has graduated from college and people call her "brilliant." She can talk intelligently about world affairs and she reads every best seller that comes along. But believe me when I say no one in the family will accept a second invitation to her home because she is such a careless housekeeper.

We ate there once and the silverware was encrusted with dirt and the glasses and dishes were filthy. She puts raw fruit and vegetables on the table without washing them. I once saw bugs crawling around on my salad. We have nothing against her, but we can't eat there. We've run out of excuses. Is it possible to come right out with the truth in a case like this and keep her friendship?

SISTER-IN-LAW

Dear Sis: If you tell her the truth, you may lose her friendship. It's time someone took a hug out of the salad and put it in your brother's ear.

Dear Abby: I know a girl isn't supposed to let a fellow kiss her on the first date, but when is it proper to let all the stops out?

JANE

Dear Jane: After the organ plays "The Wedding March."

Dear Abby: I work in an office with another girl. We usually go out for lunch together. She makes as much as I do, but I always end up paying the bill. She uses the old excuse, "I left my money in my other purse." How can I put a stop to this without appearing cheap?

STUCK

Dear Stuck: If you hold still for that line more than twice you must have left your brains in your other head. When her money's in her "other purse," tell her you'll "lend" her lunch money. And if that doesn't do it — find a new lunch mate.

Dear Abby: My boyfriend is in the service. He is stationed near enough to home so that he gets home once in a while. When he is away he writes the dreamiest love letters saying he is counting the minutes until he sees me. But when he gets home he spends all his time running around with his buddies and I hardly ever see him. When he gets back on the base the love letters start coming again. I like this boy a lot, Abby, and want to know how to handle him.

CLIFF'S GIRL

Dear Girl: Write "Boswell" and tell him you don't want a pen-pal, you want a real live boyfriend.

Next Film At Grand Tomorrow

"THE Subterraneans," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film version of Jack Kerouac's widely-discussed novel of today's "new bohemia" has been brought to the screen by Producer Arthur Freed with Leslie Caron as its feminine star, reuniting the producer and actress of the Academy Award-winning "Gigi."

Playing opposite Miss Caron is George Peppard, who is hailed as one of Hollywood's most exciting new personalities. Co-starred are Janice Rule and Roddy McDowell, with Anne Seymour, Jim Hutton, Scott Marlowe, Arne Johnson, Ruth Storey and Bert Freed. A highlight of the picture is its progressive jazz score played and sung by a number of America's top musical artists, including Gerry Mulligan, Carmen McRae and Andre Previn.

The film opens at the Grand Theatre, East Stroudsburg, Wednesday.

Dairy Expert Dies At 68

Olmstead gained recognition for his part in the successful campaign to stamp out tuberculosis and brucellosis among dairy herds. He helped start the first artificial breeding services for cattle in Pennsylvania.

Olmstead retired in 1954 as professor of dairy extension, after a career of 41 years as a student, instructor, and in other capacities at Pennsylvania State University.

Plane Tracks New Storm

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP) — A turbulent area was discovered in the Atlantic northeast of the Leeward Islands yesterday and weather forecasters at Miami said surrounding conditions were "favorable for development of another hurricane."

The squally area, with highest winds about 30 miles per hour, is northeast of the islands of St. Kitts and Guadeloupe.

A hurricane hunter airplane investigated the area and further reconnaissance was planned Tuesday.

Cyprus In Line

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Cyprus has become the fifth newly independent country to establish diplomatic relations with Nationalist China, joining Cameroon, Senegal, Togo and Malagasy.

'Carnival Story' Set For Skyline

"KISS ME! Kill me! But don't leave me!" pleads Anne Baxter in her role of a post-war German girl who had sought refuge in an American carnival company in Germany, to Steve Cochran, its speller, in "Carnival Story," the technicolor drama which currently holds the entertainment spotlight at the Skyline Drive-In Theater Saturday night.

Cochran portrays the kind of male animal who is all but irresistible to women, and the girl, so hungry for love, finds that he arouses her beyond her powers of resistance. How she finally gets him out of her system provides starkly emotional drama in this off-beat story, which was filmed entirely in Munich and vicinity.

In addition to Anne Baxter and Steve Cochran, the cast of "Carnival Story" also has Lyle Bettger and George Nader in co-starring roles, with Jay C. Flippen and Helene Stanley in featured assignments. Directed by Kurt Neumann, it was produced by the King Bros.

Police Force Is Revamped

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's powerful federal police force is undergoing a thorough purge following investigations that turned up evidence of shady dealings by top officials.

Disclosure of charges of police corruption has proved especially embarrassing to President Arturo Frondizi because the federal police were led by Rear Adm. Ezequiel Niceto Vega, one of the president's trusted advisers and the husband of his wife's sister.

Niceto Vega was forced out as chief of the 50,000-man force and put under arrest for 15 days. Carlos Borzone, a retired navy captain, was forced out as deputy chief and jailed for two months.

Giants Drop Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Mike McCormick struck out 13 batters and picked up his 13th victory Tuesday night in a 6-3 San Francisco victory over Pittsburgh.

Wilmer Mizell started for the Pirates and was in a 1-1 battle until the sixth inning when the Giants scored three runs.

Mays Triples
The three-run rally for the Giants in the sixth started when Willie Mays tripled and scored on a wild pitch by Mizell. Then after Felipe Alou doubled into the left field corner, Mizell intentionally walked Orlando Cepeda and gave a free pass to Willie Kirkland. Ed Bressoud then singled up the middle, scoring Alou and Cepeda.

The Pirates made it close in the seventh inning on Gino Cimoli's third single of the game and Roberto Clemente's 15th home run.

McCormick received two insurance runs in the ninth.
